5. Cost Sharing

All required one stop partners are required to use a portion of their funds to create, maintain and participate in the One Stop delivery system and to provide their core services.

- Full Time Co-location

The Workforce Development Council required that those partners co-locating full time in a center enter into a separate cost sharing agreement that ensures the partner pays a fair share of the costs of operating the center. A copy of such agreement should be attached to this agreement.

- Part Time or Visiting Partners

The visiting partner agrees to assume responsibility for a fair share of the common costs of the Center based on a pro-rata share of participants of each partner who use the center. The partner agrees to provide a list of participants enrolled in their program at least once each fiscal period, at a time and in a manner to be agreed upon by partners to this MOU for the purpose of establishing the fair share of common costs. If costs are determined to be immaterial based on the participation of partner participants, no costs will be assigned to the partner. If costs are determined to be material, a separate agreement will be negotiated and affixed as an addendum to this agreement.

6. Referral Arrangements

Describe in detail how referrals will be made to partners and list any requirements for receiving referrals from partner programs; e.g., are referrals made electronically or recorded, do you make phone referrals, send referral cards, etc.

- Larry Selland College refers prospective students or clients who may qualify for WIA or other programs to Idaho commerce and labor for additional information. The referral process is verbal and is recorded in case notes by counselors from the Larry Selin College office of enrollment management and student success in Center for new directions. At times counselors from both areas may contact a representative from Idaho commerce and labor by phone or e-mail to refer clients. The Center for new directions also refers clients to Idaho commerce and labor for resume writing and job interview and workshops.
- Usually referrals from Idaho Commerce and Labor are verbal. The client is encouraged to make an appointment with a counselor from the office of Enrollment Management and Student Success for career exploration and to investigate educational opportunities. At times the Idaho Commerce and Labor representative may contact a Larry Selland College counselor by phone or e-mail to refer a client.

7. Other comments or conditions not listed in the agreement

The Larry Selland College is engaged in several economic development and workforce development projects in the Treasure Valley and in rural communities. These projects involve multiple partners including Idaho Commerce and Labor, state, county, and municipal leaders and stakeholders. It is the expectation of the Larry Selland College that these projects and partnerships will be replicated throughout the ten counties of southwest Idaho.

The Larry Selland College partners with several high schools throughout the region to integrate adult learners in high school technology classes. These adult learners are, in many cases, clients of Idaho Commerce and Labor. It is the expectation of the Larry Selland College that the partnerships with regional high schools will increase and that, with the support of Idaho Commerce and Labor, a greater number of clients will be served, particularly in the rural communities.

The Larry Selland College collaborates with Idaho Commerce and Labor to provide workforce training for employers. It is the expectation of the Larry Selland College that Idaho Commerce and Labor will encourage employers to access the workforce development capacities of the college, particularly through the Workforce Development Training Fund.

The Larry Selland College represents training and education programs consistent with nationally recognized workforce shortages (ie nursing and truck driving). It is the expectation of the Larry Selland College that these capacities will be represented by Idaho Commerce and Labor to employers that may potentially benefit from these programs.
